

PRJ6001 Applied Project

Unit Description

This unit requires students to develop and implement applied research project, submitting a research paper reporting their findings in a structured and coherent manner which is appropriate for publication as a conference and/or journal paper. Students work independently on their previously approved Research Proposal from PRJ5106 or on a new Research Proposal developed within the first four weeks of the commencement of this unit. Students in this unit work systematically through different stages of a research refining and clarifying problem, adopting appropriate methodology, approach, and methods to achieve the research objectives and disseminate research outcome/results. It is expected that students will integrate and synthesise knowledge they have acquired in previous units as they work through this unit.

Credit Points	8 credit points
Duration	12 weeks (10 teaching weeks and 2 revision and assessment weeks)

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, students will be able to:

1. Select and apply an appropriate approach to identify, refine and clarify the problem.
2. Formulate a solution for the identified project, business problem, or research question.
3. Employ deliberate persuasive strategies to critique other researchers' work.
4. Communicate the rationale, design, implementation, analysis and dissemination of the impacts of the solution to both specialists and non-specialists through appropriate presentations and reports.